

Environment Centre NT

protecting nature | restoring ecosystems | climate change

HOME | Upcoming Events | About | Campaigns and Projects | Publications | Media Releases | Contact Us | Links

HOT MEDIA Releases

Today

Rudd finally admits that he hates animals, especially bears.

Chief Minister says 'McArthur River Mine his favourite toy'.

Darwin soon to become home to Australia's first solar city.

Last week

Darwin locals Karen and Deb return with latest Climate Summit News.

Media Releases

RSS Feeds

RSS Feeds

Archived Media Releases

Donate

Join

Take Action

Sign a Petition

Green Guide

You are here ▶ | Home | About the ECNT

Darwin Harbour aerial photograph. Alice Springs photographs by Blah Blah Blah head.

Environment Centre NT

The Environment Centre of the Northern Territory was established in 1983 and has played a crucial role in improving environmental protection and management throughout the Territory.

ECNT is the peak non-government environment group in the Territory. We rely heavily on our members, both to help direct and run the Environment Centre's activities and for the contribution that membership subscriptions make to our limited resources. ECNT works to:

- » promote environmental awareness;
- » involve the public in conservation issues;
- » provide information via our library and files;
- » lobby government and industry;
- » inform the public on environmental issues via the media;
- » assist other groups to protect the environment;
- » liaise with other conservationists, both nationally and internationally;
- » publish a regular and informative newsletter; and
- » support the recognition of Aboriginal rights and aspirations.

Back to top

A Management Committee elected from ECNT membership guides the activities of the Environment Centre. The Centre's day-to-day activities are coordinated by the Office Coordinator whilst our range of campaigns are managed by our Campaigns Coordinator.

ECNT is heavily dependent on its volunteer base- please contact the Centre if you would like to know how you can help us to protect precious Northern Australian environments.

ECNT gratefully receives funding assistance from a range of organisations, including national philanthropic organisations such as Myer Foundation, Poola Foundation, and the Mullum Trust. We also receive grants from fellow conservation organisations, and from the NT government, as well as members of the public.